Health Connect South is the platform for health leaders to hear and talk about “the new” in health, the current challenges, and possible solutions.

The content of our gatherings draws from the incredible pool of premier healthcare institutions in the Southeast, including; The Centers for Disease Control & Prevention (CDC), the U.S. Department of Health and Human Services, leading Research Universities, Governmental and Industry leaders, and top-ranked Health Systems.

Rarely do all these vital components of healthcare get together across disciplines. By curating an interdisciplinary collection of key health assets, Health Connect South breaks down the silos in health by gathering the top decision makers, innovators, and next generation of health leaders to create an environment where collaborations and partnerships to advance health can thrive.

The background of the entire page is a blue-toned image. In the foreground, the silhouettes of two people, a woman on the left and a man on the right, are seen from behind, looking towards a large, glowing blue screen. The screen displays a close-up of a human torso, showing the chest and shoulder area, with a bright blue light source or projection on the right side. The overall atmosphere is futuristic and high-tech.
